Report With Hoddesdon Snooker Club having finished second from bottom in Division 5 last season, this game was far too easy for us even though we had nothing like our full-strength side out. In fact Kevin Dedman 'strolled about' for the whole 90 minutes but still scored a hat-trick (albeit against a 60-year-old? keeper standing only 5ft. 4ins. tall and dressed like a car mechanic), although Lexton Harrison did score a goal of the season contender with an outrageous chip from Dedman's 'taking the piss' through ball that not many keepers would have stopped. However the fact that John Dyer managed to score from a header and Hoddesdon Snooker Club's subsequent 11-0 defeat in their next match (to much lesser opposition) showed that we really should have won by a much bigger margin and there were too many players either too pissed from ex-player Kevin Young's party the night before or just couldn't be bothered.
